Plan the first room a visitor sees

The Best Trade interior study works through the reception, waiting area and meeting room in the original model.

Give an arriving visitor a clear focal point

The glazed desk surface and dark wall sit opposite the approach. The view shows the furniture gathered around that first point of contact.

ORIGINAL RECEPTION DESK AND BRAND-WALL VIEW

Use finishes to define the seating zone

A grey wall treatment, timber accents and a light rug set off the seating within the compact room.

ORIGINAL WAITING-AREA MATERIALS AND SEATING VIEW

Give the meeting zone a separate character

The darker oval table, pendant lights and teal panelled wall set the room apart from reception.

ORIGINAL MEETING-ROOM VIEW

Check how the rooms relate from above

The model views make it possible to compare sightlines, furniture positions and the transition between adjacent rooms.

ORIGINAL ALTERNATIVE RECEPTION AND MEETING VIEWS

Connect the unconnected.

Onindo Ahmed

A multidisciplinary thinker and maker passionate about connecting ideas, challenging conventions, and building what's next.

Let's get connected!

+880 1611878701

hello@onindoahmed.com

onindoahmed.com